

Job 12:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Behold, he breaketh down, and it cannot be built again: he shutteth up a man, and there can be no opening.

Analysis

Job describes God's absolute power: 'Behold, he breaketh down, and it cannot be built again: he shutteth up a man, and there can be no opening.' This recognition of divine sovereignty that can seem arbitrary and destructive leads Job toward submission, though not yet acceptance.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern building and imprisonment imagery depicts both human activity and divine power. Job uses these metaphors to describe God's irreversible decrees, anticipating his eventual submission (42:2).
