

Job 19:21

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Have pity upon me, have pity upon me, O ye my friends; for the hand of God hath touched me.

Analysis

Job's plea to his friends: 'Have pity upon me, have pity upon me, O ye my friends; for the hand of God hath touched me.' The repeated 'have pity' emphasizes desperate need for compassion. Job explicitly attributes suffering to God yet still seeks human comfort.

Historical Context

Ancient friendship obligations included compassion in divinely-sent affliction. Job's appeal recognizes that divine causation doesn't eliminate need for human support.
