

Job 29:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

I put on righteousness, and it clothed me: my judgment was as a robe and a diadem.

Analysis

---

Job recalls: 'I put on righteousness, and it clothed me: my judgment was as a robe and a diadem.' The clothing metaphor suggests righteousness as external garment and internal identity. Job's past life embodied justice, making present accusations particularly painful.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern royalty and judges wore distinctive garments symbolizing authority. Job's metaphor suggests righteousness was his characteristic dress.

Related Passages

John 15:13 — Greatest form of love

1 John 4:8 — God is love

Revelation 20:12 — Judgment according to deeds

Matthew 25:31 — Final judgment

Study Questions

---

1. What does it mean to 'put on' righteousness as clothing?

2. How does this metaphor anticipate New Testament language of being clothed in Christ?
