

Job 37:19

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Teach us what we shall say unto him; for we cannot order our speech by reason of darkness.

Analysis

Teach us what we shall say unto him—Elihu acknowledges human inadequacy in addressing God. The phrase we cannot order our speech (לֹא־נִצְרָךְ, lo-naarokh) uses צָרַךְ (arakh), meaning to set in order, arrange, or prepare for battle. We cannot marshal arguments before God as warriors array battle lines. Why? By reason of darkness (מִפְּנֵי־חֹשֶׁךְ, miphnei-choshekh)—not moral darkness but intellectual darkness, the limitation of human understanding.

This confession anticipates Job's final response: 'I have uttered that I understood not; things too wonderful for me, which I knew not' (Job 42:3). Paul similarly writes, 'Now we see through a glass, darkly' (1 Corinthians 13:12). The 'darkness' isn't ignorance due to sin but creaturely limitation. Even regenerate minds cannot fully comprehend God's eternal purposes. Elihu's humility contrasts with Job's earlier demands for explanation (Job 13:22, 23:3-7). True wisdom acknowledges the epistemological gap between Creator and creature.

Historical Context

In ancient legal settings, litigants carefully ordered speeches to present their case. Elihu admits that before God, no human can properly arrange arguments—not due to lack of skill but because divine wisdom infinitely surpasses human comprehension. This contrasts with Greek philosophy's confidence in human reason. Hebraic wisdom began with fearing God (Proverbs 1:7), recognizing human limitation.
