

Job 5:18

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For he maketh sore, and bindeth up: he woundeth, and his hands make whole.

Analysis

God 'maketh sore, and bindeth up; he woundeth, and his hands make whole' - Eliphaz correctly identifies God's sovereignty over suffering and healing. This truth appears throughout Scripture (Deuteronomy 32:39, Hosea 6:1), yet Eliphaz misapplies it by assuming Job's repentance will immediately end his suffering.

Historical Context

The dual nature of God as both wounder and healer reflects His sovereignty over all circumstances. Ancient medicine understood that healing often requires painful treatment, a metaphor for spiritual discipline.
