

John 1:19

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And this is the record of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, Who art thou?

Analysis

The narrative transitions from prologue to testimony. Jerusalem's religious establishment sends priests and Levites to investigate John the Baptist. Their question 'Who art thou?' reflects official concern about this wilderness prophet drawing massive crowds. John's answer is emphatically negative: 'he confessed, and denied not; but confessed, I am not the Christ.' The threefold emphasis ('confessed,' 'denied not,' 'confessed') stresses John's integrity—he refused to claim more than he was.

Historical Context

The Sanhedrin, responsible for religious orthodoxy, naturally investigated this prophetic movement. During the intertestamental period, no prophetic voice had spoken. John's appearance after 400 years of prophetic silence demanded explanation. His denial that he was Messiah, Elijah (in physical return), or 'the Prophet' (Deuteronomy 18:15) demonstrated remarkable humility given his popularity.

Study Questions

1. How does John's honest denial model integrity in ministry and witness?
2. Why was it important for John to clearly distinguish himself from the Messiah?
