

John 11:28

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And when she had so said, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

Analysis

Martha returns and calls Mary secretly, using the term 'Master' (Didaskalos/Teacher), showing Jesus' teaching role. The secrecy may reflect desire for private conversation or concern about the hostile Jews present. Martha's words 'he calleth for thee' suggest Jesus had made a request, though not recorded. Her role as messenger shows Martha's servant heart. The sisters' different approaches continue—Martha intercepts, then brings Mary. This demonstrates complementary gifts in Christ's service.

Historical Context

The term 'Master' (Teacher) was respectful address for rabbis. Mary and Martha's use of different titles (Martha: 'Lord,' Mary via Martha: 'Master') may reflect their different relationships or circumstances of address.

1. How does Martha's servant role in bringing Mary demonstrate spiritual maturity?
2. What does the private nature of Jesus' call teach about personal relationship with Christ?
3. In what ways do different spiritual gifts complement each other in serving Christ?
