

John 12:17

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The people therefore that was with him when he called Lazarus out of his grave, and raised him from the dead, bare record.

Analysis

The eyewitnesses to Lazarus' resurrection continue testifying, their ongoing witness creating evangelistic momentum. The Greek verb 'testified' (emarturoun) indicates continuous action—they kept bearing witness. Their testimony validates the miracle's reality and demonstrates transformed lives as evidence. This exemplifies how authentic Christian testimony is eyewitness account, not hearsay. Their witness drew crowds to Jesus, showing evangelism's power when believers share what they've seen God do. Personal testimony remains compelling evidence.

Historical Context

First-century evangelism relied heavily on eyewitness testimony. The apostles consistently emphasized they testified to what they saw (1 John 1:1-3; Acts 4:20).
