

John 12:28

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Father, glorify thy name. Then came there a voice from heaven, saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again.

Analysis

Jesus resolves His struggle: 'Father, glorify thy name,' prioritizing God's glory over personal comfort. The Father's audible response affirms both past glorification (through Jesus' ministry) and future glorification (through the cross). This divine voice publicly authenticates Jesus' mission at this crucial moment. The Father's 'I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again' spans Christ's entire ministry—past signs and future sacrifice both glorify God. The audible voice serves the crowd (v. 30), not Jesus, providing testimony to His divine sonship.

Historical Context

Audible divine voices occurred at Jesus' baptism (Matt 3:17) and transfiguration (Matt 17:5). These theophanic moments publicly authenticated Jesus' mission at strategic points. The crowd's hearing provides multiple witnesses.
