

John 12:37

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But though he had done so many miracles before them, yet they believed not on him:

Analysis

---

Despite 'so many miracles,' the majority don't believe, fulfilling Isaiah's prophecy (Is 53:1). The Greek construction emphasizes stubborn unbelief despite overwhelming evidence. Miracles authenticate Jesus' claims but don't guarantee belief—faith requires spiritual regeneration, not merely empirical proof. This demonstrates total depravity: even undeniable evidence doesn't penetrate unregenerate hearts. Their unbelief validates Jesus' earlier teaching about needing spiritual birth (3:3). The fulfillment of Isaiah proves God's sovereignty over even human rebellion.

Historical Context

John records numerous signs throughout his Gospel (2:11; 4:54; 6:14; 11:47). The crowd's persistent unbelief despite these validates the necessity of divine regeneration for faith.
