

John 13:23

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom one of his disciples, whom Jesus loved.

Analysis

Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom (ἀνακείμενος ἐν τῷ κόλπῳ, anakeimenos en tō kolpō)—the posture of reclining at table, common in Greco-Roman dining. Guests reclined on left elbow, leaving right hand free for eating. The one "in the bosom" reclined with head near Jesus' chest—position of intimacy and honor. One of his disciples, whom Jesus loved—John's characteristic self-reference (also 19:26, 20:2, 21:7, 20). He never names himself, identifying instead by Christ's love for him.

This beloved disciple is John himself (church tradition unanimous). His self-description emphasizes not his love for Jesus but Jesus' love for him—hallmark of true spirituality. John defines himself by Christ's affection, not personal achievement. The phrase echoes 1:18, where the Son is "in the bosom of the Father"—John enjoys with Jesus the intimacy Jesus enjoys with the Father. This proximity positions John to ask Jesus about the betrayer.

Historical Context

Ancient dining arrangements placed honored guests nearest the host. John's position indicates special relationship with Jesus. Written late in life (AD 85-95), elderly John reflects on his unique intimacy with Christ. He never boasts but marvels at being loved by the Lord. This humility characterizes his epistles—"we love him, because he first loved us" (1 John 4:19).

Study Questions

1. How does defining yourself as "the one Jesus loves" rather than by achievements transform identity?
2. What does physical proximity to Jesus at the table symbolize about spiritual intimacy with Christ?
