

John 15:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you.

Analysis

Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you (ἤδη ὑμεῖς καθαροί ἐστε διὰ τὸν λόγον)—Jesus declares the disciples katharoi (clean, pure) not through ritual washing but through ton logon (the word). This echoes Ephesians 5:26, where Christ cleanses the church "with the washing of water by the word."

The perfect tense ἐστε (you are) indicates an already-accomplished reality. Their cleansing came through receiving and believing Christ's teaching (His rhema, spoken word). In the vine allegory, this means genuine branches have been pruned (v.2) and purified through divine truth. Judas, who rejected the word, remained unclean (13:10-11)—not a true branch despite external proximity to the vine.

Historical Context

Spoken in the upper room on Passover night, hours before Jesus's arrest. In John's narrative, Jesus had just washed the disciples' feet (ch. 13), foreshadowing their spiritual cleansing through His death. The imagery of pruning connects to viticulture in first-century Judea, where vinedressers carefully cut away dead wood and excess growth.
