

John 15:8

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples.

Analysis

Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit (ἐν τούτῳ ἐδοξάσθη ὁ πατήρ μου)—The Father's glory is manifested through the fruitfulness of Christ's disciples. The aorist passive edoxasthē points to completed glorification already achieved through Jesus's obedience, yet continuing through disciples who abide in the Vine. Much fruit (καρπὸν πολύν) intensifies the earlier mention of 'fruit' (v.2) and 'more fruit' (v.5)—progressive sanctification is the evidence and aim of genuine discipleship.

So shall ye be my disciples (καὶ γένησθε ἐμοὶ μαθηταί)—The future subjunctive genēsthe doesn't mean 'become disciples for the first time' but 'prove yourselves to be' or 'show yourselves as' disciples. Fruitfulness isn't what makes one a disciple (that's grace through faith), but it's the authenticating mark. This echoes Jesus's teaching that true discipleship is verified by fruit (Matthew 7:16-20), by love (John 13:35), and by obedience (John 8:31).

Historical Context

Jesus spoke these words during the Last Supper discourse (John 13-17), after Judas departed but before Gethsemane. The vine imagery would resonate deeply with the disciples—Israel was frequently called God's vineyard (Isaiah 5:1-7, Psalm 80:8-16), yet it failed to bear fruit. Jesus is now the true Vine, establishing a new covenant community whose fruitfulness glorifies the Father.
