

John 16:7

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you.

Analysis

Christ declares His departure 'expedient' (Greek 'sympheron', beneficial, profitable)—a startling claim that His physical absence benefits believers more than His presence. The Comforter (Paraclete, meaning advocate, helper, counselor) cannot come unless Jesus departs, showing the Holy Spirit's ministry depends on Christ's finished work. The Spirit's coming means Christ's work multiplied through all believers, not limited to one location.

Historical Context

Jesus spoke this Thursday evening; by Sunday, His resurrection would confirm this promise. Pentecost (50 days later) fulfilled it. The disciples couldn't grasp this paradox—how could absence be better than presence?—until experiencing the Spirit's power (Acts 2).
