

John 19:34

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But one of the soldiers with a spear pierced his side, and forthwith came there out blood and water.

Analysis

But one of the soldiers with a spear pierced his side, and forthwith came there out blood and water (ἀλλ' εἷς τῶν στρατιωτῶν λόγχῃ αὐτοῦ τὴν πλευρὰν ἔνυξεν, καὶ ἐξῆλθεν εὐθὺς αἷμα καὶ ὕδωρ, all' heis tōn stratiōtōn lonchē autou tēn pleuran enyxen, kai exēlthen euthys haima kai hydōr)—To confirm death, a soldier thrust a λόγχῃ (lonchē, 'lance, spear') into Jesus's πλευράν (pleuran, 'side'), producing αἷμα καὶ ὕδωρ (haima kai hydōr, 'blood and water'). Medical explanations include: pericardial effusion, pleural effusion, or separated blood clot and serum. John emphasizes εὐθὺς (euthys, 'immediately'), stressing the eyewitness detail.

Theologically, blood and water symbolize atonement and cleansing. 1 John 5:6 references this: 'This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ.' The water may symbolize the Spirit (John 7:38-39), baptism, or sanctification. The blood represents the new covenant (Matthew 26:28). Together they encompass full salvation: justification (blood) and sanctification (water).

Historical Context

Roman spears typically penetrated 5-6 inches. Striking the right side would pierce the right atrium or ventricle, releasing blood; the pericardial sac would release serous fluid. John's precise medical observation has led many physicians throughout history to faith, recognizing authentic eyewitness detail rather than legendary embellishment.

Study Questions

1. How does the medical detail of 'blood and water' validate the Gospel's historical reliability as eyewitness testimony?
2. What theological significance do blood and water carry—how do they represent full salvation?
3. How should the physical reality of Christ's death and suffering shape our understanding of atonement?
