

John 4:13

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Jesus answered and said unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again:

Analysis

Christ contrasts physical water with spiritual: 'Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again.' Physical water temporarily satisfies but must be repeatedly consumed. This applies to all earthly pleasures, achievements, and relationships—they cannot permanently satisfy the soul's deepest longings. Only Christ provides lasting satisfaction. This diagnostic truth exposes humanity's futility: we drink from broken cisterns (Jeremiah 2:13) that never truly quench spiritual thirst.

Historical Context

The Samaritan woman came to Jacob's well at noon (unusual time, suggesting shame avoidance). Jesus uses this daily necessity—drawing water—to reveal spiritual truth. Ancient wells were communal gathering places; this woman's isolation highlights her social rejection. Christ offers what no earthly resource can provide.
