

John 4:2

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

(Though Jesus himself baptized not, but his disciples,) [1]

Analysis

John's clarification that Jesus Himself didn't baptize but His disciples did prevents misunderstanding about the necessity of apostolic baptism. This shows that the efficacy of sacraments depends on Christ's institution, not the administrator's status. The Reformed doctrine holds that valid baptism requires only a lawful administrator and proper elements, not apostolic hands.

Historical Context

This detail distinguishes Jesus' practice from John's personal ministry. The disciples' baptizing under Jesus' authority anticipated the church's ongoing practice after His ascension.
