

John 4:5

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then cometh he to a city of Samaria, which is called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground that Jacob gave to his son Joseph.

Analysis

The city of Sychar connects to Jacob's history in the land, linking Jesus' mission to Israel's patriarchal heritage. John emphasizes the historical and theological continuity between Old Testament promises and their New Testament fulfillment in Christ. The plot of ground Jacob gave Joseph symbolizes Israel's inheritance, which Christ has come to claim and transform.

Historical Context

Sychar was likely near ancient Shechem in Samaria. Jacob purchased land there (Genesis 33:19) and gave it to Joseph (Genesis 48:22). This area held deep significance in Israel's history as the site of covenant renewal under Joshua.

Study Questions

---

1. How does Jesus' journey through Samaria challenge ethnic and religious prejudices?

2. What does it mean that Christ claims and transforms the inheritance of the patriarchs?
