

John 6:33

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.

Analysis

Jesus defines God's bread as 'he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.' This transitions from bread as commodity to bread as person—Christ Himself. The phrase 'giveth life unto the world' expands beyond Israel to universal scope. True bread doesn't merely sustain physical existence but imparts spiritual and eternal life.

Historical Context

The shift from 'it' (bread) to 'he' (person) is subtle in their conversation but profound theologically. Jesus will shortly declare 'I am the bread of life,' making explicit what He here implies.

Study Questions

1. How does understanding Christ as the bread of life change our approach to spiritual nourishment?

2. What does it mean that Christ 'giveth life unto the world' beyond merely sustaining existing life?
