

John 7:18

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

He that speaketh of himself seeketh his own glory: but he that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousness is in him.

Analysis

Jesus contrasts self-generated testimony with testimony that comes from God. Self-seekers pursue their own glory, seeking human recognition and authority. But Christ seeks the Father's glory alone, making His witness true. The Reformed emphasis on God's glory (solus Deo gloria) finds expression here - ministry that exalts God rather than self authenticates divine calling.

Historical Context

Jewish legal tradition required multiple witnesses for valid testimony (Deut 19:15). Jesus addresses this concern while asserting that His unity with the Father provides sufficient witness.
