

John 7:27

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when Christ cometh, no man knoweth whence he is.

Analysis

Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when Christ cometh, no man knoweth whence he is. The crowd's objection: they know Jesus's origins (Nazareth, Mary and Joseph), but expected Messiah's origins to be mysterious. This reflects rabbinic speculation that Messiah would appear suddenly without traceable origin (based on Malachi 3:1, Daniel 7:13). They misunderstand—they know Jesus's earthly origins but not His heavenly origin. Jesus is from Nazareth geographically but from the Father eternally.

Historical Context

Some rabbinic traditions held that Messiah would remain hidden until His revelation (2 Esdras 7:28, 13:51-52). Others expected Him from Bethlehem (Micah 5:2, John 7:42). The crowd knew Jesus as the Galilean carpenter's son, unaware of His Bethlehem birth. Their partial knowledge led to wrong conclusions. This parallels modern objections—people judge Christ based on incomplete information.

Study Questions

1. How does partial knowledge about Jesus lead to wrong conclusions?
2. What is the relationship between Jesus's earthly and heavenly origins?
3. How do we avoid making similar mistakes by knowing Jesus only superficially?
