

John 9:18

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind, and received his sight, until they called the parents of him that had received his sight.

Analysis

---

The Jews' refusal to believe the miracle demonstrates willful unbelief. They call the man's parents to testify, seeking loopholes to deny the obvious. This illustrates that unbelief is ultimately moral, not intellectual - no amount of evidence convinces those determined not to believe. Jesus' earlier words prove true: some see and become blind (v. 39).

Historical Context

---

Calling parents as witnesses follows Jewish investigatory procedure, but here it's motivated by desire to deny rather than discover truth. Their unbelief was impervious to evidence.

Related Passages

---

Matthew 25:31 — Final judgment

Revelation 20:12 — Judgment according to deeds

Study Questions

---

1. What causes people to reject clear evidence of God's work?
2. When have you seen willful unbelief resist obvious truth?

3. How do you distinguish genuine questioning from determined unbelief?

Interlinear Text

---

Οὐκ	ἐπίστευσαν	οὖν	οἱ	Ἰουδαῖοι	περὶ	αὐτοῦ	ὅτι
not	believe	But	G3588	the Jews	concerning	him	that
G3756	G4100	G3767		G2453	G4012	G846	G3754
τυφλὸς	ἦν	καὶ	ἀναβλέψαντος	ἕως	ὅτου	ἐφώνησαν
blind	he had been	and	received his sight	until	G3755	they called
G5185	G2258	G2532	G308	G2193		G5455
τοὺς	γονεῖς	αὐτοῦ	τοῦ	ἀναβλέψαντος
G3588	the parents	him	G3588	received his sight
	G1118	G846		G308

---

From KJV Study • kjevstudy.org