

John 9:39

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And Jesus said, For judgment I am come into this world, that they which see not might see; and that they which see might be made blind.

Analysis

'And Jesus said, For judgment I am come into this world, that they which see not might see; and that they which see might be made blind.' Jesus explains the deeper meaning. His coming produces a great reversal: the humble blind receive sight; the proud 'seeing' become blind. Judgment isn't separate from ministry—it occurs through response to Jesus. Those who acknowledge blindness receive sight; those claiming sight remain in darkness.

Historical Context

This reversal appears throughout Luke (1:51-53, 18:14). The proud are humbled; the humble exalted. Jesus' presence reveals hearts—those who recognize need receive help; those who deny need remain helpless.

Study Questions

1. How does response to Jesus function as judgment?
2. Why does claiming to 'see' produce blindness while admitting blindness leads to sight?
