

Joshua 1:16

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And they answered Joshua, saying, All that thou commandest us we will do, and whithersoever thou sendest us, we will go.

Analysis

The Transjordan tribes' response demonstrates exemplary covenant loyalty: 'All that thou commandest us we will do' (kol asher-tsivitanu naasteh, כֹּל אֲשֶׁר-צִוִּיתָנוּ נַאֲסִתֵּהּ). Their comprehensive obedience ('all...we will do') and willingness to go anywhere ('whithersoever thou sendest us') models complete submission to Joshua's leadership. This response echoes Israel's commitment at Sinai ('all that the LORD hath spoken we will do,' Exodus 19:8, 24:3). From a Reformed perspective, this demonstrates that true faith produces obedience—genuine believers submit to God's appointed leadership and willingly go wherever sent.

Historical Context

This pledge wasn't mere words—the Transjordan tribes faithfully fulfilled it throughout the conquest, fighting courageously for seven years away from families. Their integrity in keeping this oath demonstrates covenant character. Later generations remembered their faithfulness as exemplary (Joshua 22:1-3).

Study Questions

1. What comprehensive obedience ('all that thou commandest') is God requiring from you?
2. How willing are you to go 'whithersoever' God sends, even to difficult or undesired locations?
3. Does your obedience match your verbal commitments?
