

Joshua 10:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And there was no day like that before it or after it, that the LORD hearkened unto the voice of a man: for the LORD fought for Israel.

Analysis

The testimony—'And there was no day like that before it or after it, that the LORD hearkened unto the voice of a man: for the LORD fought for Israel'—emphasizes the miracle's uniqueness and divine initiative. God's hearkening to human prayer shows covenant intimacy—He responds to His people's requests. Yet the conclusion—'the LORD fought for Israel'—ensures recognition that victory came through divine power, not human prayer manipulating God. Prayer releases God's power but doesn't control it. He fights for His people.

Historical Context

This battle's significance extended beyond military victory—it demonstrated God's commitment to defend Israel and execute judgment on Canaanites. The five-king coalition represented major opposition to Israel's conquest, making their defeat crucial. The earlier hailstone miracle (verse 11, killing more than swords) combined with extended daylight showed comprehensive divine intervention. Such demonstrations of God's power served both practical (victory) and theological (testimony to His sovereignty) purposes.
