

Joshua 14:12

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Now therefore give me this mountain, whereof the LORD spake in that day; for thou hearest in that day how the Anakims were there, and that the cities were great and fenced: if so be the LORD will be with me, then I shall be able to drive them out, as the LORD said.

Analysis

Caleb's request demonstrates remarkable faith and courage. The phrase 'give me this mountain' (תְּנִلֵּי אֶת-הַר הַזֶּה) asks for Hebron and its surrounding highlands, the very territory that terrified the other spies 45 years earlier (Numbers 13:22, 28, 33). The reference 'whereof the LORD spake in that day' grounds the request in divine promise. The clause 'for thou hearest in that day how the Anakims were there' acknowledges the challenge—the giants who intimidated Israel still occupied the region. The description 'cities were great and fenced' admits the military difficulty. Yet Caleb's faith shines in the conditional clause: 'if so be the LORD will be with me, then I shall be able to drive them out.' The phrase ulay Yahweh iti (אֶלְيָהוָה אַתִּי), 'if the LORD will be with me') expresses humble dependence, not presumption. Caleb recognizes that success requires divine presence, yet confidently claims God's promise. The final phrase 'as the LORD said' returns to divine promise as the foundation for courage. At 85, Caleb doesn't seek easy retirement but the hardest conquest, showing that faith grows stronger rather than weaker through testing.

Historical Context

Hebron, located in the Judean highlands about 19 miles south of Jerusalem at 3,000+ feet elevation, was among Canaan's oldest and most significant cities. It had been called Kirjath-arba, named after Arba, the greatest man among the Anakim (Joshua 14:15). The Anakim (descendants of Anak) were giants whose intimidating stature had terrified the spies (Numbers 13:33, 'we were in our own sight as grasshoppers'). These were the very opponents who caused Israel's generation of unbelief to refuse entering Canaan. Caleb's request to fight the Anakim at age 85 demonstrates that faith's courage doesn't diminish with age but may intensify through years of trusting God. Hebron held deep historical significance—Abraham, Sarah, Isaac, Rebekah, Jacob, and Leah were buried there in the cave of Machpelah (Genesis 23; 49:29-32). Claiming Hebron meant possessing territory laden with patriarchal history and promise. Caleb successfully conquered Hebron and drove out the three sons of Anak (Joshua 15:13-14), vindicating his faith. Hebron later became one of the cities of refuge (Joshua 20:7) and David's first capital (2 Samuel 2:11), demonstrating its ongoing significance.
