

Luke 1:31

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS.

Analysis

Gabriel announces Mary will conceive and bear a son named Jesus. The name 'Jesus' (Greek 'Iēsous,' Ἰησοῦς, from Hebrew 'Yeshua,' יֵשׁוּעַ) means 'Yahweh saves' or 'the LORD is salvation.' This name explicitly identifies the child's redemptive mission—He will save His people from their sins (Matthew 1:21). The naming is divinely prescribed, not chosen by parents, indicating divine sovereignty over the incarnation. Every time the name is spoken, it proclaims the gospel message.

Historical Context

The name Yeshua/Jesus was common in first-century Judaism, often given to honor Joshua who led Israel into the Promised Land. However, Gabriel's prescribed naming indicates this child will be THE Yeshua who accomplishes ultimate salvation. The parallel with Matthew 1:21's angelic announcement to Joseph reinforces the divine mandate. In Jewish culture, names carried prophetic significance, revealing identity and destiny. By naming the child Jesus, God publicly proclaimed His intent to save His people.
