

Luke 12:30

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things.

Analysis

For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things. Jesus contrasts kingdom citizens with the nations of the world (ta ethne tou kosmou, τὰ ἔθνη τοῦ κόσμου)—the Gentiles, pagans, those outside covenant relationship with God. The phrase seek after (epizeteousin, ἐπιζητοῦσιν) uses an intensive compound verb—epi (upon, intensely) plus zeteo (seek). The nations don't merely seek these things; they seek them obsessively, desperately, as ultimate goods. Without knowledge of the true God, material security becomes their functional deity.

Disciples must live differently because of a fundamental truth: your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things (ho de pater hymon oiden hoti chrezete touton, ὁ δὲ πατὴρ ὑμῶν οἶδεν ὅτι χρῆζετε τούτων). The contrast is emphatic—ho pater hymon (ὁ πατὴρ ὑμῶν, YOUR Father). Pagans have no such relationship; they must fend for themselves in an impersonal cosmos. But disciples have a Father who oiden (οἶδεν, knows)—not theoretical knowledge but intimate awareness of His children's needs. The verb chrezo (χρῆζω) means to have need of, lack, require. God knows your genuine needs before you ask (Matthew 6:8).

This truth revolutionizes priorities. If the omniscient, omnipotent, loving Father knows and cares about your needs, anxious seeking is unnecessary. You can instead invest energy in kingdom pursuits (v. 31). This doesn't mean God always gives what we want when we want it, but that He sovereignly provides what we genuinely need according to His wisdom and timing.

Historical Context

The contrast between disciples and 'the nations' (Gentiles) was fundamental to Jewish self-understanding. Israel was set apart from nations who worshiped false gods and pursued idolatrous priorities (Leviticus 20:26, Deuteronomy 4:5-8). First-century paganism was indeed characterized by anxiety about provision—farmers sacrificed to fertility gods, merchants to trade deities, all attempting to manipulate divine forces for material blessing. Jesus teaches that disciples reject this pagan anxiety not through philosophical detachment but through trust in a personal Father. Paul later develops this theme: pagans are 'without God in the world' (Ephesians 2:12), but Christians have access to the Father (Ephesians 2:18).

Related Passages

Romans 2:1 — Judging others

Matthew 25:31 — Final judgment

Psalms 19:1 — Heavens declare God's glory

Genesis 1:1 — Creation of heavens and earth

Study Questions

1. In what ways does your lifestyle and anxiety level resemble 'the nations' more than kingdom citizens who trust their Father?
2. How does knowing that God already knows your needs before you ask affect your prayer life and daily anxiety?
3. What would change if you truly believed your Heavenly Father is both aware of and committed to meeting your genuine needs?

Interlinear Text

ταῦτα	γὰρ	πάντα	τὰ	ἔθνη	τοῦ	κόσμου	ἐπιζητεῖ·
these things	For	all	G3588	the nations	G3588	of the world	do
G5023	G1063	G3956		G1484		G2889	G1934
ὑμῶν	δὲ	ὁ	πατὴρ	οἶδεν	ὅτι	χρῆζετε	τούτων
your	and	G3588	Father	knoweth	that	ye have need	of these things
G5216	G1161		G3962	G1492	G3754	G5535	G5130

Additional Cross-References

Matthew 6:32 (Parallel theme): (For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.

Matthew 6:8 (Parallel theme): Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

Ephesians 4:17 (Parallel theme): This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind,

Matthew 18:14 (Parallel theme): Even so it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish.

Matthew 10:20 (Parallel theme): For it is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you.

Luke 12:32 (Parallel theme): Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.