

Luke 21:8

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And he said, Take heed that ye be not deceived: for many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and the time draweth near: go ye not therefore after them.

Analysis

And he said, Take heed that ye be not deceived: for many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and the time draweth near: go ye not therefore after them. Jesus begins His eschatological discourse with a warning: blepete mē planaōthēte (βλέπετε μὴ πλανηθῆτε, 'watch that you not be deceived'). The verb planaō (πλανάω) means 'lead astray,' 'deceive,' 'cause to wander.' False teachers will come epi tō onomati mou (ἐπὶ τῷ ὀνόματί μου, 'in my name')—claiming Christ's authority—and declare egō eimi (ἐγὼ εἰμι, 'I am [he]') and ho kairos ēngiken (ὁ καιρὸς ἤγγικεν, 'the time has drawn near').

These deceivers will claim messianic identity or imminent eschatological fulfillment. The command mē poreuthēte opisō autōn (μὴ πορευθῆτε ὀπίσω αὐτῶν, 'do not go after them') prohibits following false messiahs. History confirms this warning's relevance: Simon bar Kokhba (AD 132-135) claimed messiahship and led a disastrous revolt. Throughout church history, false prophets have proclaimed 'the time is near,' deceiving many. Jesus' first eschatological concern is not chronology but spiritual discernment and resistance to deception. Before discussing when the end comes, He warns about false teachers who will mislead the unwary.

Historical Context

Between Jesus' prophecy and Jerusalem's destruction (AD 30-70), multiple messianic pretenders arose. Josephus records several false prophets who led Jews to disaster. Theudas (Acts 5:36) claimed prophetic authority; Judas of Galilee led a revolt; an Egyptian false prophet led thousands to the Mount of Olives. After AD 70, Bar Kokhba's messianic claims led to catastrophic war with Rome (132-135). The early church also faced deception—Gnostic teachers, legalists, and apocalyptic speculators troubled congregations. Paul warned of those proclaiming false timelines (2 Thessalonians 2:1-3). Throughout history, date-setters and false prophets have misled Christians. Jesus' warning remains perpetually relevant.

Study Questions

1. Why does Jesus prioritize warning against deception before answering questions about timing and signs?
2. How can believers distinguish between genuine prophetic teaching and false claims that 'the time has drawn near'?
3. What characteristics of false teachers should alert Christians to deception, especially regarding end-times predictions?
