

Mark 15:33

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour.

Analysis

When the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour—From noon (hōra hektē, ὥρα ἑκτη, sixth hour) until 3 PM (hōra enatē, ὥρα ἑνάτη, ninth hour), supernatural darkness (skotos, σκότος) covered holēn tēn gēn (ὅλην τὴν γῆν)—debated whether 'whole land' (Judea) or 'whole earth' (cosmic). The preposition epi (ἐπί, 'over/upon') suggests comprehensive covering.

This wasn't a natural eclipse—impossible during Passover's full moon. The darkness was theophanic judgment, recalling the ninth plague (Exodus 10:21-23). As Jesus bore humanity's sin, the Father judicially 'made Him to be sin' (2 Corinthians 5:21), and darkness symbolized divine judgment falling on the sin-bearer. The Light of the World (John 8:12) was shrouded in darkness, bearing the outer darkness humanity deserved. Amos 8:9 prophesied: 'I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day.' The darkness proclaimed cosmic significance: creation's King was dying.

Historical Context

Multiple ancient historians noted unusual darkness at this time, though accounts vary. The historian Thallus (52 AD) mentioned darkness during Passover in Jesus' era, which Julius Africanus (221 AD) cited. The darkness occurred during peak daylight hours when activity in Jerusalem would be maximal—Passover preparation was underway. The supernatural darkness would have terrified a population familiar with darkness as divine judgment. This was the hour when Passover lambs were being slaughtered in the Temple for the evening meal.
