

Mark 4:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And these are they by the way side, where the word is sown; but when they have heard, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts.

Analysis

Jesus explains the path-seed: 'these are they by the way side, where the word is sown; but when they have heard, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts.' The path (hardened by constant trampling) represents hardened hearts impervious to gospel penetration. Seed remains on surface where birds devour it. Satan actively opposes gospel reception—'cometh immediately' (εὐθὺς ἔρχεται) shows his swift response to thwart salvation. The verb 'taketh away' (αἶρει) indicates forceful removal. This reveals spiritual warfare's reality: gospel proclamation provokes satanic opposition. Hardened hearts provide Satan easy access to snatch truth before it roots.

Historical Context

Paths through fields became hard-packed from constant traffic. Scattered seed on such soil couldn't penetrate, remaining vulnerable to birds. Jesus reveals spiritual reality: some hearts are so hardened by sin, unbelief, or worldliness that gospel never penetrates. Satan works through distraction, deception, alternative explanations, and false teaching to prevent conversion. Early church experienced this—opponents disrupted preaching (Acts 13:45; 17:5; 18:6), false teachers spread heresies (2 Corinthians 11:13-15), persecution intimidated hearers. Church history records satanic opposition to every gospel advance.
