

Mark 8:18

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Having eyes, see ye not? and having ears, hear ye not? and do ye not remember?

Analysis

Having eyes, see ye not? and having ears, hear ye not?—Jesus quotes Jeremiah 5:21 and Ezekiel 12:2, prophetic indictments of Israel's spiritual blindness. Physical faculties without spiritual illumination produce no true perception. This echoes Isaiah 6:9-10, which Jesus quotes explaining why He teaches in parables (Mark 4:12)—parables reveal truth to receptive hearts while concealing it from hard hearts.

Do ye not remember? (οὐ μνημονεύετε, ou mnēmoneuete)—memory failure indicates spiritual problem, not cognitive deficiency. Remembering God's past faithfulness is essential for present trust (Deuteronomy 8:2; Psalm 77:11). The disciples' forgetfulness demonstrates how quickly humans default to anxiety despite experiencing divine provision. Jesus will remedy their spiritual blindness (8:22-26 healing) and deafness, ultimately sending the Spirit to 'bring all things to your remembrance' (John 14:26).

Historical Context

Jewish worship emphasized remembrance—Passover commemorated exodus deliverance, Sabbath recalled creation rest, feasts rehearsed God's redemptive acts. Deuteronomy repeatedly commands Israel to 'remember' (zakhar) God's past works to sustain faith during present trials. The disciples' memory failure represents Israel's chronic forgetfulness despite witnessing God's mighty acts.

Jesus' questions prepare them to recall the two feedings' specific details (vv. 19-20), using Socratic method to awaken spiritual perception.

Study Questions

1. How does the connection between 'eyes/ears' and 'remembering' reveal that spiritual perception requires intentional recollection of God's past faithfulness?
2. What past demonstrations of God's provision do you need to 'remember' to combat present anxiety or doubt?
3. How might regular practices of remembrance (Scripture meditation, journaling God's faithfulness, celebrating answered prayers) cultivate spiritual sight and hearing?
