

Matthew 2:12

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

Analysis

God's warning to the magi in a dream demonstrates His sovereign protection of His Son and His ability to communicate directly with seeking hearts, even among Gentiles. The magi's obedience to God's revelation over Herod's command shows proper priorities: obeying God rather than men (Acts 5:29). Their silent departure thwarted Herod's scheme, showing how God uses ordinary human obedience to accomplish His purposes.

Historical Context

Dreams were a common means of divine revelation in the biblical period. God's warning protected both the magi (who might have faced Herod's wrath) and Jesus (by delaying Herod's awareness that his plot was foiled).
