

Matthew 2:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son.

Analysis

The phrase 'Out of Egypt have I called my son' quotes Hosea 11:1, originally about Israel's exodus. Matthew sees a typological fulfillment—as Israel was God's 'son' called from Egypt, so Jesus (the true Israel) recapitulates Israel's experience but succeeds where they failed. Jesus' stay 'until the death of Herod' protected God's redemptive plan.

Historical Context

Hosea 11:1 (written around 750 BC) reflected on the Exodus (c. 1446 BC). Matthew's 'fulfilled' shows how Christ consummates Old Testament patterns. Jesus embodies Israel's calling, perfectly obeying where Israel rebelled. This is typological prophecy, not mere prediction.
