

Matthew 2:4

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

Analysis

Herod's consultation with chief priests and scribes—the religious experts—demonstrates that biblical knowledge alone does not produce saving faith. These men could quote Scripture accurately but remained hostile to the Messiah Scripture proclaimed. This illustrates the Reformed doctrine that saving faith requires divine illumination of the heart, not merely intellectual comprehension.

Historical Context

The Sanhedrin was the Jewish ruling council composed of chief priests (Sadducees) and scribes (mostly Pharisees). They could accurately identify Bethlehem as Messiah's birthplace from Micah 5:2, yet rejected Jesus when He came.
