

Matthew 21:11

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And the multitude said, This is Jesus the prophet of Nazareth of Galilee.

Analysis

This is Jesus the prophet of Nazareth of Galilee—The crowds' confession falls tragically short. Jesus is indeed prophētēs (προφήτης), but He's the Prophet-King-Priest, Yahweh incarnate. Of Nazareth was nearly contemptuous (John 1:46, 'Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?'), yet providentially fulfilled prophecy (Matt 2:23).

Galilee (Γαλιλαία) marked Jesus as provincial, not Jerusalem's elite. The crowd honored Him as a prophet—like Elijah or Jeremiah—when He deserved worship as Lord. This inadequate Christology paved the way for their later rejection: they wanted a prophetic liberator, not the divine Savior who must die for sin.

Historical Context

Jerusalem's population looked down on Galileans as backwards and theologically suspect (mixing with Gentiles). The religious establishment particularly scorned 'Galilee of the Gentiles' (Isa 9:1). Yet God chose this despised region to reveal His Son, fulfilling the pattern of divine elevation of the lowly.

Study Questions

1. In what ways might you limit Jesus to 'prophet' or 'good teacher' rather than worshipping Him as Lord and God?
2. How does Jesus's Galilean origin challenge cultural Christianity's obsession with prestige and pedigree?
