

Matthew 24:20

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But pray ye that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the sabbath day:

Analysis

But pray ye that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the sabbath day (προσεύχεσθε δὲ ἵνα μὴ γένηται ἡ φυγὴ ὑμῶν χειμῶνος μηδὲ σαββάτῳ)—The imperative προσεύχομαι (proseuchomai, "pray") commands petition regarding circumstances of escape. Winter (χειμῶν, cheimōn) brings cold, rain, and swollen rivers, making mountain travel treacherous. The sabbath (σάββατον) presented different challenges: Jews limited travel to a "sabbath day's journey" (~2,000 cubits, about 3/5 mile), and city gates were closed.

This reveals:

1. Prayer influences providential timing—God cares about practical details.
2. Jesus assumes Jewish Christians would still observe sabbath restrictions decades later, showing continuity with Mosaic law's ethical dimensions.
3. Even in sovereignty, God invites prayer that affects outcomes.

The early church's escape during Cestius Gallus's unexpected withdrawal (not winter, not sabbath) may well have been answer to this very prayer.

Historical Context

Judean winters (December-February) brought temperatures near freezing in mountains, with heavy rain making roads muddy and rivers dangerous. The siege of Jerusalem occurred April-September AD 70 (not winter). The brief escape window under Cestius (AD 66) also wasn't winter. Regarding sabbath: Jewish authorities enforced strict sabbath regulations. Fleeing on sabbath would have attracted hostile attention and been physically difficult with closed gates.

Study Questions

1. What does this command to pray about logistical details teach about God's concern for physical as well as spiritual needs?
2. How can believers balance preparation/planning with trust in God's providence?
3. Does Jesus's assumption of continued sabbath observance have implications for how Christians view Old Testament law today?
