

Matthew 24:46

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing.

Analysis

Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing
—The Greek makarios (μακάριος) means supremely blessed, happy, fortunate. This blessing depends entirely on being found poiōn (ποιῶν = doing/practicing) at the moment of the master's return. Not merely having done in the past, but actively engaged in faithful service when Christ appears.

The emphasis falls on heurēsei (εὕρησει = shall find)—what will Christ discover when He returns? A servant on task or on vacation? Feeding the household or feeding himself? The Lord's coming tests character: are we faithful because we love the master, or only when supervised? The blessing isn't earning salvation, but the approval and reward of hearing 'well done, good and faithful servant' (Matthew 25:21).

Historical Context

Ancient masters often traveled for extended periods, leaving estates in stewards' hands. The return could be sudden and unannounced—precisely Jesus's point. The early church expected Christ's imminent return, motivating vigilant service. As centuries passed, the test intensified: can we maintain watchfulness across millennia? The 'blessed' servant is the one still faithfully serving in generation 70 of the master's absence.

Study Questions

1. If Christ returned today, what 'doing' would He find you engaged in—faithfulness or self-indulgence?
2. How do you maintain motivation to serve faithfully when the Master's return has been 'delayed' 2,000 years?
3. What rewards and commendation from Christ are you hoping to receive when He finds you at work?
