

Matthew 25:44

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto thee?

Analysis

Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord (τότε ἀποκριθήσονται καὶ αὐτοὶ λέγοντες, Κύριε, tote apokrithēsontai kai autoi legontes, Kyrie)—Even the condemned call Him Kyrie (Lord), echoing Jesus's warning: 'Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven' (Matthew 7:21). Verbal profession without obedient action proves empty.

When saw we thee an hungred, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto thee? (πότε σε εἶδομεν... καὶ οὐ διηκονήσαμέν σοι, pote se eidomen... kai ou diēkonēsamen soi)—The verb diakoneō means to serve, to minister. Their protest reveals they never saw Christ in the needy; they lacked the eyes of faith that perceive Christ's presence among 'the least of these.'

Historical Context

The goats' defensive question parallels Israel's complaint in Malachi 3:13-15: 'What have we spoken so much against thee?' When confronted with their hard words, they feign innocence. Similarly, the goats can't recall neglecting Christ because they never perceived His presence in the vulnerable. This judicial scene anticipates Revelation 20:12-15, where books are opened and the dead judged 'according to their works.'
