

Matthew 26:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

When Jesus understood it, he said unto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for she hath wrought a good work upon me.

Analysis

---

Why trouble ye the woman?—Jesus defends Mary with parechete kopous (παρέχετε κόπους), 'stop causing her trouble/grief.' The Greek present tense suggests they were continuing to harass her. Christ protects His worshipers from religious critics. He values her heart's devotion over their utilitarian calculations.

For she hath wrought a good work upon me—The phrase ergon kalon (ἔργον καλόν) means 'beautiful work' or 'noble deed.' Jesus recognizes her act as prophetically significant. Unlike the disciples' blindness, Mary grasps that Jesus is the suffering Messiah who will die. Her anointing demonstrates spiritual insight and abandoned love.

Historical Context

In first-century Judaism, women's spiritual insights were often dismissed. Jesus's public affirmation of Mary's 'good work' honors her prophetic understanding and challenges gender hierarchies. She becomes a model of devotion when male disciples remain confused and critical.

Study Questions

1. How does Jesus's defense of Mary encourage you when religious people criticize your expressions of wholehearted devotion?
2. What makes an act 'good' in God's eyes—its practical utility or its expression of love for Christ?
