

Matthew 27:38

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then were there two thieves crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left.

Analysis

Two thieves crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left (δύο λησταί, dyo lēstai)—not petty thieves but lēstai, bandits or insurrectionists (same word for Barabbas, John 18:40). Jesus is numbered with transgressors (Isaiah 53:12), literally between them.

The positioning fulfills the request of James and John's mother: Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on the left, in thy kingdom (Matthew 20:21). Jesus replied, Ye know not what ye ask. Now we see: the right and left positions in his kingdom are crosses. Glory comes through suffering.

Historical Context

Crucifixion was reserved for slaves, pirates, and insurrectionists—never Roman citizens (except for treason). That Jesus was crucified between two lēstai reinforced the charge of sedition: he was treated as the ringleader of a revolutionary movement.

Study Questions

1. How does Jesus's position between two criminals fulfill both prophecy and the request in Matthew 20:20-23?
2. What does one thief's repentance (Luke 23:39-43) reveal about the sufficiency of Christ's grace even in the final moments?
