

Matthew 27:62

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Now the next day, that followed the day of the preparation, the chief priests and Pharisees came together unto Pilate,

Analysis

The next day, that followed the day of the preparation—this phrases the Sabbath respectfully without naming it, emphasizing the holy day. Yet the chief priests and Pharisees violated Sabbath by conducting business with Pilate. Their religious scruples (they wouldn't enter Pilate's hall during Passover, John 18:28) evaporated when protecting their position. Came together unto Pilate (συνήχθησαν πρὸς Πιλᾶτον)—conspired, gathered officially.

This verse reveals stunning hypocrisy: they remembered Jesus' resurrection prediction when his own disciples forgot (16:21-22). The enemies took Christ's words more seriously than his friends did. Their Sabbath-breaking for tomb security exposes what they truly worshiped—not God, but their own authority. They could kill the Son of God and still keep Sabbath externalism, yet felt compelled to break Sabbath to prevent resurrection.

Historical Context

The Sabbath began Friday sundown and ended Saturday sundown. For religious leaders to conduct governmental business violated their own strict interpretations. Their approach to Pilate on Sabbath demonstrated desperation—they feared the resurrection claim more than they feared breaking the fourth commandment. This occurred during Passover week, heightening the contradiction.

Study Questions

1. How do we maintain religious appearances while violating God's heart, like the religious leaders?
2. What does it mean that Jesus' enemies remembered his resurrection prophecy when his disciples forgot?
