

Matthew 4:7

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Jesus said unto him, It is written again, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

Analysis

Jesus responds to the second temptation (presuming on God's protection by jumping from the temple) with 'It is written again, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God' (Deuteronomy 6:16). This shows that Scripture must interpret Scripture—Satan misapplied Psalm 91:11-12 by divorcing it from context. Tempting God means forcing His hand through presumptuous actions that require Him to act contrary to His revealed will.

Historical Context

Deuteronomy 6:16 refers to Israel's testing God at Massah by demanding proof of His presence (Exodus 17:7). The temple pinnacle was about 450 feet above the Kidron Valley. Demanding a miraculous rescue would force God to validate presumption rather than faith.
