

Matthew 5:19

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

Analysis

Jesus affirms the permanent authority of God's Law while warning against antinomianism. Breaking even 'least commandments' and teaching others to do so results in diminished status in the Kingdom. Greatness comes through obedience and faithful teaching, not through grace that ignores holiness.

Historical Context

Jewish teachers debated which commandments were 'heavy' (important) and 'light' (less important). Some used this distinction to minimize certain laws. Jesus rejects this selective obedience and affirms all of God's revelation matters.
