

Matthew 5:32

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery.

Analysis

Jesus permits divorce only for fornication (porneia—sexual immorality). Divorcing for other reasons makes the divorced person an adulteress if she remarries, and the man who marries her commits adultery. This protects marriage's sanctity and affirms God's creation design: one man, one woman, for life.

Historical Context

This teaching would have shocked hearers used to easy male-initiated divorce. Jesus protects women from being casually discarded. The 'exception clause' for sexual immorality acknowledges that adultery breaks the covenant bond, but Jesus raises the standard far above contemporary practice.

Study Questions

1. How does this teaching challenge modern assumptions about personal happiness and self-fulfillment?
2. What does Jesus's strict view of marriage reveal about covenant faithfulness and God's character?
