

Matthew 5:46

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same?

Analysis

Loving only those who love you merits no special reward—even corrupt tax collectors do that much. Such reciprocal love is natural, requiring no grace. Kingdom love goes beyond natural affection to supernatural love for enemies, reflecting God's character rather than mere human capacity.

Historical Context

Tax collectors (publicans) were Jews who collected taxes for Rome, often overcharging and keeping excess. They were despised as traitors and sinners. Yet Jesus notes even they practice reciprocal love—suggesting this minimal standard falls far short of Kingdom ethics.
