

Matthew 7:28

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine:

Analysis

The crowds were astonished at Jesus's teaching because He taught with authority, unlike the scribes. He didn't merely cite previous authorities or debate interpretations—He spoke as God Himself, with inherent authority. 'You have heard it said, but I say' revealed His divine status as ultimate Lawgiver.

Historical Context

Scribes typically taught by citing other rabbis and debating interpretations. Authority came from scholarly tradition and pedigree. Jesus bypassed all this, speaking on His own authority and even challenging traditional interpretations. This claim to supreme authority ultimately led to His crucifixion.
