

Matthew 8:21

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And another of his disciples said unto him, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.

Analysis

The disciple's request to 'first go and bury my father' likely doesn't mean his father had just died (in which case he'd be at the burial, not following Jesus), but rather asking to delay discipleship until after his father's eventual death and burial—possibly years away. This request, though seemingly reasonable and honoring to parents, places family obligation above immediate response to Christ's call. Jesus' shocking reply reveals that following Him takes precedence even over legitimate family responsibilities.

Historical Context

In Jewish culture, caring for parents and ensuring proper burial was a sacred duty. Delaying other commitments for this purpose would be considered honorable and pious. Jesus' radical response therefore shocked His hearers, demonstrating that kingdom demands supersede even the most sacred family obligations.

Study Questions

1. How does Jesus' teaching that discipleship supersedes family obligations relate to the fifth commandment to honor parents?
2. What legitimate but lesser responsibilities might you be allowing to delay wholehearted obedience to Christ's call?
