

Matthew 8:27

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But the men marvelled, saying, What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him!

Analysis

The disciples' wonder 'What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him!' reveals their growing understanding of Jesus' identity. They use 'what manner' (Greek: potapos) meaning 'from what country/source'—they recognize something supernatural. Their question echoes Psalm 89:9 ('thou rulest the raging of the sea') and Psalm 107:29 ('he maketh the storm a calm'), Old Testament texts about God's unique authority over creation.

Historical Context

The disciples had witnessed healings and exorcisms, but this nature miracle revealed Jesus as Creator exercising authority over His creation. Their question shows faith growing from recognition of power to questioning about identity—preparing for Peter's confession (16:16).
