

Micah 7:17

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

They shall lick the dust like a serpent, they shall move out of their holes like worms of the earth: they shall be afraid of the LORD our God, and shall fear because of thee.

Analysis

They shall lick the dust like a serpent (yelechaku afar kannachash, לְלַכְךָ עָפָר כְּנַחַשׁ). This vivid imagery draws from Genesis 3:14's curse on the serpent: "upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat." Licking dust symbolizes total humiliation and defeat—enemies reduced to crawling in submission like the cursed serpent. It reverses their former arrogance, showing complete subjugation.

They shall move out of their holes like worms of the earth (yirgezu mimisgroteihem kezochale eretz, יַרְגֵּזוּ מִמִּסְגָּרְתֵּיהֶם כְּזָחָלֵי אֶרֶץ). Ragaz (רָגֶז, "tremble/quake") indicates fear-induced trembling. Misgrot (מִסְגָּרוֹת, "holes/strongholds") are fortifications or hiding places where they sought security. Like worms emerging from soil when disturbed, nations will come out of their strongholds—not in confidence but in terrified submission. Zochalei eretz ("crawling things of earth") emphasizes their degradation.

They shall be afraid of the LORD our God, and shall fear because of thee (yipchadu el-YHWH Eloheinu vevir'u mimmenekha, יִפְחַדُ אֱלֹהֵינוּ וַיַּרְאוּ מִמֶּנָּךְ). Pachad (פִּחְד, "be afraid/terrified") and yare (ירא, "fear/revere") describe overwhelming dread before God's majesty. This fulfills prophecies that nations will ultimately acknowledge YHWH and Israel's God-given status (Isaiah 45:14, 60:14; Zechariah 8:23). Christ brings this reality—Philippians 2:10-11 promises every knee will bow and every tongue confess His lordship.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern imagery frequently depicted defeated enemies as groveling in the dust before victorious kings. Micah employs this convention to describe God's ultimate triumph over Israel's oppressors. Partial fulfillment occurred when empires that conquered Israel (Assyria, Babylon) themselves fell and feared YHWH's judgment. Greater fulfillment came through Christ's victory over sin, death, and Satan (Colossians 2:15). The serpent's ultimate defeat was secured at the cross (Genesis 3:15; Romans 16:20). Final fulfillment awaits Christ's return when all enemies are put under His feet (1 Corinthians 15:25; Revelation 20:10).

Study Questions

1. How does the serpent imagery connect Genesis 3's curse to God's ultimate victory over evil?
2. What does it mean that even God's enemies will ultimately 'fear' Him—is this salvific fear or terror of judgment?
3. How should Christ's assured victory over all enemies shape our confidence when facing opposition or spiritual warfare?
